Lesson Authoring Tips: Creative Uses of the Table Activity

As the CL-150's Lesson Authoring tool continues to evolve, the more possibilities you have when creating your language lessons. To help you make the most of those possibilities, we're tapping the collective expertise and creativity of the CL-150 instructor community in a series of Lesson Authoring tips. This time, let's cover one of our newest activities: Table.

What is the Table activity?

|                   |                                | Fill the bla | nks with answers from the right  | 0 % Complete | SHORT       | CUTS (CTRL + |
|-------------------|--------------------------------|--------------|----------------------------------|--------------|-------------|--------------|
| hoose the correct | t possessive adjective.        |              |                                  |              | su          |              |
|                   | Adjetivos posesivos (sineular) | Sustantivos  | Possessive adjectives (singular) |              | nuertro     | -1           |
|                   | mi                             | 8            | my                               |              | nuestro     |              |
|                   |                                | viaje        | your (informal)                  |              | tu          |              |
|                   |                                | ubicación    | his, her, or your (formal)       |              |             |              |
|                   |                                | taxi         | our (masculine)                  |              | su          | - 1          |
|                   |                                | pago         | their, your (plural)             |              |             |              |
|                   |                                |              |                                  |              | 30          |              |
|                   |                                |              |                                  |              | EXPORT TO P | DE           |
|                   |                                |              |                                  |              |             |              |

As you might expect, Table let's you make... tables! You can create a table from scratch or upload a table from an Excel spreadsheet or Word doc. Formatting tools allow you to edit text color and cell color, and formatting will carry over from Excel or Word if importing.

Table allows you to blank out certain cells (or parts of cells!) that the learner must then fill in. The possibilities are vast if you're willing to think outside the table.

Need a reminder of how to set up Table? Watch this video.

How are instructors using Table?

Grammar Practice

When you think of tables, you probably think of grammar—indeed that is the most common application of Table. Below is an example of using Table to demonstrate verb-adjective agreement. Learners must fill in the corresponding noun and adjective to match the translation provided in the first column.

|                     | Fill the blanks | with answers from the right   |    | 5404       | TOUTS (CTRL + |
|---------------------|-----------------|---|----|------------|---------------|
|                     |                 | in gender. Feminine adjectives describe femininetable below with the appropriate noun and its | E  | una toalla |               |
| English Noun Phrase | Spanish Noun    | Spanish Adjective   |    | limpia     | _             |
| sticky rice         | el arroz        | pegajoso  |    | auténtica  | - 1           |
| a generous amount   | una cantidad    | generosa  |    |            | _             |
| a medium pot        |                 |   | 5- | una olla   |               |
| a clean towel       |                 |   |    | la paella  | 1             |
| authentic paella    |                 |   | -  |            | -1            |
|                     |                 |   |    | mediana    | - 1           |

Conversation Practice

Table can be used to facilitate conversation-based lessons. Ask learners to role play one of the speakers and fill in the blanks with their portion of the conversation, as seen below.

|                  | Spanish • Table  |                                 | 0 % Complete                | REFE           | RENCE                          |         | 60 K | •     | 0    |
|------------------|--|---------------------------------|-----------------------------|----------------|--------------------------------|---------|-------------|-------|------|
|                  | Fill the blo   | anks with answers from the rig  |                             |                |                                | 9       | HORTCUTS    | (CTRL | + H) |
| A clierpromp | arrives at a hotel, ready to check in. Complete the conversation ts. | with the best response to the r | receptionist's questions or |                | Sí, es me                      | tjor al | final.      | 1     |      |
|                  | Recepcionista  | Cliente                         |                             |                | Sí, por favorTambién neces |         |             |       |      |
|                  | ¿Tiene una reservación?  | Sí, tengo una reservación.      |                             |                |                                |         |             |       |      |
|                  | ¿A qué nombre?   |                                 |                             |                | Muchas g                       |         |             |       |      |
|                  | ¿Necesita teléfono en la habitación?                                 |                                 |                             | A nombre de Ma |                                | María   | П           |       |      |
|                  | ¿Quiere su factura al final de la estancia?                          |                                 |                             |                | Pére                           |         |             | 9     |      |
|                  | Para servirle.   |                                 |                             |                |                                |         |             |       |      |
|                  |  |                                 |                             |                |                                |         |             |       |      |
|                  |  |                                 |                             |                |                                | PORT T  |             |       |      |

Cultural Information Practice

Table can be used to present or check comprehension of cultural information. In the example below, learners are presented with several scenarios and must fill in the table comparing culturally appropriate behavior in America vs. Iran.

|   | Fill the blanks with answers fr                              | om the right                            | SHORTCUTS (C                             |
|---|--|---|--|
| each scenario. Then match it with the cultural  | ly-appropriate Iranian response.                             |   | You insist that heenter the »        |
|   | Common American Response                                     | Culturally-appropriate Iranian Response | You repeatedly                           |
| our car breaks down, and your coworkerffers you a ride to work.   | You immediately accept his offer and thankhim profusely. | —                                       | refuse his offer.                        |
| ou arrive at work at the same time as ander colleague.  | You enter first, but hold the door for him.                  |   | You pretend to befull until she asks |
| ou are admiring an item, but the shopkeeperfuses to tell you the price, insisting that it isorthless. | You try to find a better deal elsewhere.                     |   | You insist on payinguntil >>         |
| a dinner party, your hostess offers you ome tea.  | You accept the tea and thank your hostess.                   |   |  |
|   |  |   |  |
|   |  |   |  |
|   |  |   |  |
|   |  |   | A EXPORT TO PDF                          |

Fill in the Blank

Table allows you not only to blank out certain cells, but certain words within a single cell. This flexibility can transform Table into a fill-in-the-blank activity where learners are expected to produce vocabulary or grammar patterns in the context of a sentence, as seen below.

|            | panish • Table   | REFERENCE | •        | ٠          |
|------------|--|-----------|----------|------------|
|            | Fill the blanks with answers from the right  | 3         | HORTCUTS | (CTRL + H) |
| complete t | the sentences with the vocabulary from the video.    Quisiera abrir una cuenta corriente.   Quisiera abrir una cuenta vivienda para pagar mi hipoteca.   Quisiera abrir una cuenta para dinero.   Quisiera una tarjeta de   Saco dinero del banco en el cajero automático.   Para acceder tu cuenta en línea necesitas tener una |           | 9        | 1          |
|            |  |           |          |            |

Now we want to hear from you.

How have you used the Table activity in your lessons? Did we miss something obvious (or not so obvious) that could benefit other instructors and mentors? We'd love to hear from you: usg@transparent.com.

Need a refresher on other Lesson Authoring capabilities? Take a look at the Lesson Authoring help videos.