

Les Noms Composés – Compound Nouns

verb + noun

For French compound nouns that follow the verb + noun combination, use the following construction:

- verb conjugated in the 3rd person singular (il/elle/on)
- + noun without article, unless the last letter of the verb & first letter of the noun are vowels

Almost all French compound nouns are masculine, even if the noun is feminine.

To pluralize a compound noun, ask yourself if the noun is countable or not. If the noun can be counted (un lit, for example), pluralize it as you normally would^f. For collective nouns, you don't need to make any changes in the spelling. Some people do prefer to adjust the spelling, and for those verbs, you'll find them in the table below unbolded.

FR Verb	EN Translation	FR Noun	EN Translation	FR Noun with Plural	EN Translation amuser	to amuse/entertain	la bouche	mouth	un amuse-bouche(s)*	appetizer casser	to break	la tête	head	un casse-tête(s)	brain teaser casser	to break	la noix	nut	un casse-noix	nutcracker casser	to break	le cou	neck	un casse-cou(s)	daredevil casser	to break	la croûte	crust	un casse-croûte(s)	snack chasser	to hunt / chase away	la neige	snow	un chasse-neige	snowplow couper	to cut	un ongle	finger / toe nail	un coupe-ongles	nail clippers couper	to cut	le vent	wind	un coupe-vent(s)	windbreaker couper	to cut	le papier	paper	un coupe-papier(s)	letter opener couvrir	to cover	le feu	fire	un couvre-feu(x)	curfew couvrir	to cover	le lit	bed	un couvre-lit(s)	bedspread curer	to scrape clean	une dent	tooth	un cure-dent(s)	toothpick essuyer	to wipe	la glace	window	un essuie-glace(s)	windshield wiper gratter	to scratch	le ciel	sky	un gratte-ciel(s)	skyscraper laver	to wash	le linge	laundry	un lave-linge(s)	washing machine laver	to wash	la vaisselle	dishes	un lave-vaisselle(s)	dishwasher marquer	to mark	la page	page	un marque-page(s)	bookmark ouvrir	to open	une boîte	can (also box)	un ouvre-boîte(s)	can opener ouvrir	to open	une bouteille	bottle	un ouvre-bouteille(s)	bottle opener penser	to think	la bête	animal / beast	un pense-bête(s)	reminder porter	to carry	la voix	voice	un porte-voix	megaphone porter	to carry	la clé / clef	key	un porte-clé(s)	keychain porter	to carry	la parole	word / speech	un porte-parole(s)	spokesperson presser	to press / squeeze	le citron	lemon	un presse-citron(s)	citrus juice press presser	to press / squeeze	le papier	paper	un press-papier(s)	paperweight recourber	to bend	un cil	eyelash	un recourbe-cils	eyelash curler sécher	to dry	les cheveux	hair	un sèche-cheveux	hairdryer sécher	to dry	le linge	laundry	un sèche-linge(s)	clothes dryer tailler	to carve / sharpen	le crayon	pencil	un taille-crayon(s)	pencil sharpener tirer	to pull	le bouchon	cork / plug	un tire-bouchon(s)	corkscrew tromper	to mislead	un œil	eye	un trompe-l'œil	trick of the eyes tuer	to kill	un amour	love	un tue-l'amour	turn off

* You can also say un amuse-gueule to mean the same thing. La gueule is a little more colloquial, however.

 Another term, and probably more common, for the same thing is un casse-noisette. Une noisette is a hazelnut.

 un ouvre-bouteille is Canadian French. In France, a bottle opener is called un décapsuleur.

^f Trompe-l'œil is an exception. Trompe-les-yeux?? Read more about its usage notes here.

